CYCLING PROJECT – UPDATE TWO

There has been no further progress on this.

Designs and layouts to date were shown in my last update at the end of March.

The basic design and the website are virtually complete and almost ready to be linked into the new Town website as envisaged in the last update. I had intended that this was to all be completed for a launch in National Bike Week in mid June, linked to a series of rides.

Due to various reasons this is presently on temporary hold while someone to assist me with the project is being sought, which may result in a delay.

No spend to date.
